

HOW TO EDUCATE YOUR TEAM ON DR. NADINE BURKE HARRIS, MD, MPH, FAAP

QUOTES TO SHARE:

- “Toxic stress response can occur when a child experiences strong, frequent, and/or prolonged adversity—such as physical or emotional abuse, neglect, caregiver substance abuse or mental illness, exposure to violence, and/or the accumulated burdens of family economic hardship—without adequate adult support. This kind of prolonged activation of the stress-response systems can disrupt the development of brain architecture and other organ systems, and increase the risk for stress-related disease and cognitive impairment, well into the adult years.”
- “High stress affects the part of the brain responsible for judgment, memory, reasoning, and problem solving.”
